Maximize your security. Minimize the damages.

In order to compete in the ever-changing landscape of today's business world, financial institutions are forced to diversify their service offerings. As a result, there is an increased reliance on technology and cyberrelated products. With advancement through these channels, banking and financial services have seen a significant rise in cyber threats. Forward-thinking companies are now taking steps to transfer their cyber risk. Let us help. Nationwide's enterprise cyber insurance coverage for financial institutions is a service-based solution designed to enhance your organization's cyber risk profile. Not only do you have a creative solution that fits your needs, but policyholders have access to loss prevention services, breach response and remediation expertise, and an experienced claim team.

Cyber exposure for financial institutions:

- Infrastructure interruption
- High profile target group—There have been significant number of financial institution breaches in the recent years, such as those at Royal Bank of Scotland, J.P Morgan Chase, and Bank of America
- Increasingly a target of foreign state-sponsored attacks
- Large amounts of sensitive data—Credit card information, bank account information, personal data including addresses, email, and drivers license numbers

Who we insure:

- Asset managers, investment advisors, mutual funds, wealth managers, broker dealers, hedge funds
- Lending institutions, banks, credit unions, trust companies
- Insurance Companies of all sizes including life, health, and P&C
